Playgrounds Kept Busy This Summer

Andover parents sending their children to the three local playgrounds this year may be certain that something constructive has been found for them to do at practically any hour of the day. The playgrounds are bigger and better this year; an elaborate club program has been developed which should be of help to children with any particular tastes or hobbies.

Take Central playground, for instance. Stories are told there every afternoon under a special "story tree." The type of story varies from day to day, and the instructors alternate at this assignment. On Mondays at 3:00, readings are given by Miss Muriel Fone; on Tuesdays at 3:00, by Miss Katherine Sweeney; Wednesdays by Miss Sally Ballard of the Memorial Hall library; Thursdays by Miss Esther Elliott and Fridays by Miss Ebon Bendroth. Tales of loyalty, patriotism and good citizenship are stressed.

In handwork groups, the instructors employ the same system. Miss Elinor Driscoll and Miss Sweeney have classes on Monday, Miss Driscoll again on Tuesday, Misses Driscoll and Fone on Wednesdays, Miss

Lane Acts To Increase Naturalization Returns

Congressman Thomas J. Lane has recently introduced a bill to amend the Nationality Act of 1940 with respect to the appointment of fees collected by clerks of certain courts in naturalization proceedings. The present law requires the clerk of any naturalization court to turn over to the commissioner one half of all fees collected up to the sum of $6000 and all fees in excess of $6000.

Therefore, under this section, the maximum amount of money that can be retained by the county is $3000. The amendment, as proposed by Congressman Lane, would permit the retention by the county of one half of all fees collected.

Congressman Lane pointed out that during 1941, the revenue collected in connection with naturalization proceedings in Essex County amounted to approximately $12,000.

Musical Comedy Monday Evening

Large Company To Present "Gay Divorcee"

After a week's absence the Guy Palmerton Players will return to the Memorial auditorium Monday evening at 8:30 to present Cole Porter's well-remembered musical comedy, "The Gay Divorcee." The largest cast to take part in any of the four plays in the Andover Drama Festival has been assembled for the production, and a large singing and dancing chorus will be included.

Scattered through the score of "The Gay Divorcee," besides the title song, are such tuneful numbers as "The Continental," "You're In Love," "Night and Day," "How's Your Romance?," "After You, Who?," "I've Got You on my Mind," "Don't Let it Bother You," and many others.

Special lighting effects and choral ensembles have been perfected throughout the presentation by the same cast this week at the Lake Whalom Park theatre in Fitchburg. Guy Palmerton, producer for the group, has rearranged his company's playing schedule so that the weekly run of each play begins at the Fitchburg theatre each Tuesday evening, and is concluded in Andover the following Monday.

Harry Stockwell, well-known Broadway actor who has not appeared here before, is being brought over from New York especially for this week's engagement, and will take the lead in "The Gay Divorcee." The principal female dancing and singing role will be taken by Mary Elliott, who has had ample experience in musical comedy both on Broadway and in road tours and summer stock. Supporting them will be Frank Lyon, best remembered as Michael Gosselyn in "Theatre," and Louise Kirtland, who played Liz Imbrie in "The Philadelphia Story" here a few weeks ago.

Volunteers Needed To Sew For Army

Since the war department has asked for a large additional stock of army surgical dressings, the new quota for Andover's Red Cross workers is much larger than any ever handled here. More volunteers for sewing are urgently needed.

Work will begin Tuesday at the John Dove school. The rooms there will be open every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9:30 to 4:00, and Tuesday evenings from 7:00 to 9:30.

All materials will be supplied, but volunteers are asked to bring their own scissors. Instruction and supervision will be available.

Morris Leaves Fort DuPont

Transferred To Chaplain School And New Outfit

(The following article of local interest was published last week in the Wilmington (Delaware) Star.)

Last Thursday was a sad day for officers and enlisted men at Fort DuPont. On that day, Captain Albert C. Morris, post chaplain, received orders transferring him to a chaplain's school and from there to a new organization.

Chaplain Morris was often referred to as a "Good Joe," which in army parlance, symbolizes an all-round, well-liked regular fellow. His Sunday sermons were listened to with rapt attention for he was, indeed, a man who practiced what he preached.

His unceasing efforts to provide recreation for the enlisted personnel at the post have been greatly appreciated, particularly the dances sponsored by the Wilmington Red Cross. His going leaves the officers and enlisted men with a great sense of loss.

Captain Morris was born on August 2, 1904, in Chicago. He attended school in San Antonio, Texas, where his family had lived for a great many years. He attended the

Boxford Oratorio Society To Present "Elijah" Tonight

The Boxford Oratorio society, whose productions have always been very favorably received by Andover residents, will put on Mendelssohn's famous "Elijah" tonight at the First church, Boxford, at 8:00. A large chorus and string ensemble will assist.

Rehearsing the singers, who represent many towns in this part of the state, has proved a most difficult task this year for Horace N. Killam of Porter road, conductor of tonight's production. The restrictions imposed by gas rationing have had to be met by an exact working-out of time schedules and the most generous car-pooling by all the members.

Local people taking part in the production tonight will include F. Homer Foster, Mrs. William Foster, Mrs. Horace Killam, Dwight Killam and Horace Killam, Jr. Miss Marjorie Foster of Central street has a part in a special duet, "The Lord has exalted thee."

The foresight of the policy of economy followed so rigidly at the annual town meeting in March became apparent this morning, when Chairman Roy E. Hardy of the board of selectmen and assessors announced Andover's 1942 tax rate as the same as last year, $29.00.

The rate, after several weeks' delay due to the large increase in local valuation and other perplexing factors, was decided upon only at Monday night's meeting of the assessors, and was sent by them Tuesday to Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long.

The total assessed real estate valuation this year is about $237,000 more than last year's. On the other hand, state and local taxes, such as water returns, corporate and excise levies, have taken a considerable drop. The increase in real estate valuation, of course, is due to a large amount of new building, which has already ceased and which will not affect the tax rate next year.

Personal property valuation is also up by $85,000. Higher prices, and the extension of public utility services have resulted in the increase, which is also not expected to be matched for 1943.

The total amount to be raised for taxation this year is $480,591.51. The total personal property valuation is $2,040,060, and the total tax, $59,161.74. Real estate valuation totals $14,268,406, and the tax will amount to $413,783.77.

Special Meeting Tuesday Of School Committee

A special meeting of the Andover school committee will be held next Tuesday night. Matters to be discussed include proposals for cutting down expenses in the school department for the coming year, due mainly to the unusually large expenditures for fuel, and the appointment of a janitor at Indian Ridge school.

Housewives Urged To Save Tin Cans

Maybe this is turning out to be a can-can war, but local housewives have already been urged that they can can, and now they are reminded that their tin cans can, too.

Canning of fresh vegetables has come to be considered so important during the past month that special allotments of sugar for canning will be given to those housewives who state to the local rationing board that they ordinarily use large amounts of sugar for this purpose.

At the same time, housewives are urged to save the ordinary tin cans in which they buy their foods. Tin is an important item in our national defense industries, and the principal sources of it have been completely cut off by war. Nearly 90 percent of the nation's tin formerly came from Malaya, now, of course, in the war zone. Of the 100,000 tons of tin used in this country last year, only 44 tons of tin ore were of domestic production. It will take time to build up South American tin production, but time is short.

Tin cans have never been salvaged commercially to any large extent; therefore, patriotic volunteer effort is necessary. National salvage headquarters have set up a monthly quota of one ton of fully prepared tin cans per 1,000 population, and one ton comprises 9,000 average-sized cans. This would mean close to 100,000 tin cans a month in Andover—a staggering total which can be reached only by the fullest co-operation of all local householders.

They are urged, therefore, to start saving their used tin cans now. Collections will start in the middle of August, according to plans now being considered. The place and method of collection will be announced here later.

Cans may be prepared for collection in the following manner: (1) wash cans thoroughly after emptying contents, and remove paper labels. (2) Open the cans, bottoms as well as tops, and tuck in both tops and bottoms. (3) Flatten cans by stepping on them. Leave enough space between flattened sides to see through them. Do not hammer the cans. (4) Keep them in a suitable container, separate from your trash, until final collection plans are made.

Householders should note that paint, oil, varnish, floor polish or cone-shaped cans are not wanted for salvage. Evaporated or condensed milk cans, also, are not worth saving. Coffee cans and others with labels painted on them, however, can be used.

Miss Betty Buchan Will Train As WAAC Officer

Miss Betty Buchan, assistant editor of the Townsman from 1939 to 1941, now residing in Washington, D. C., has become the first Andover girl to be selected for training in the officers training school of the newly-organized W.A.A.C. She expects to begin training during the first week of August.

She graduated from Punchard high school with the class of 1933, and received her A.B. degree from Jackson college in 1937. Since leaving Andover, she has been employed as secretary to the adjustment manager of the Woodward and Lathrop Company in Washington.

POLICE BLOTTER

Chief George A. Dane and Officer Joseph Davis of the police department are now enjoying their annual two-week vacations.

Nearby residents rose somewhat earlier than usual, last Friday morning, when the alarm went off on the sprinkler system in the warehouse across from the local railroad station. Investigating police found water coming from the sprinklers, due to a breakdown in the mechanism, and succeeded in stopping the flow.

Peter Casperian, 12, of Greenwood road, played with fire last Friday afternoon, happily with no serious results. Sporting with other boys at the Chandler road town dump, Peter was running through a fire-swept area when he slipped and fell, burning his hands and knees slightly. He was brought to a local doctor by Reserve Officer Joseph O'Brien, and taken to his home after treatment.

Trial Justice Walter C. Tomlinson, in trial court Monday morning, found two out-of-town drivers guilty of speeding.

Carmelo Chiara, 152 Common street, Lawrence, was brought in on charges of speeding and operating without a license; he was fined $10 on the first count, and the second was placed on file. He was picked up last week on North Main street for speeding.

Mrs. Alice H. Bonnell, 123 George street, Arlington, also charged with speeding, was found guilty and fined $10. She was originally stopped in Shawsheen square by Officer James Walker.

John E. Sheehy of Argilla road, a navy airman, probably has a pretty poor idea of civilian morale in Andover. He left his car parked on Central street between 5:30 and 8:00 Monday morning, returned to find his $5 federal use tax stamp missing.

Work Of Worcester Artists Now Being Shown At Addison

A group of paintings by four artists who live in and around Worcester is now being shown at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy. It is the first of a series to be shown throughout New England and at the Addison Gallery, other groups from Essex county and Provincetown being represented later.

In the group now on exhibition are 15 paintings, mostly water-colors but including two oils, by Leon Hovsepian, Paul Fontaine, Lincoln Levinson and Charles Breitborde, instructor in sculpture at the Worcester Museum school.

The present showing will last to August 3, and the group by Essex county artists, possibly including some from Andover, will begin August 6. The work of the Provincetown artists will be shown towards the end of August.

Dr. Stanley G. Chart, a practicing physician here for several years, has enlisted in the U. S. army medical corps with the rank of first lieutenant. Dr. Chart is now awaiting his final acceptance from headquarters in Washington, and expects his orders to report for duty early next month.

War Research

In war the advantage is on the side with the best weapons. The work of scientists in America's research laboratories, developing new materials and new equipment, means a lot to our fighting men.

1. It takes years to build up and equip a large, organized, and able staff for research. Fortunately, industry did this long ago.

2. Long before Pearl Harbor, laboratories like General Electric's were serving their country—solving technical problems of war.

3. History repeats! In the last war "wireless" was developed for military needs—to become, with peace, a giant broadcasting industry.

4. So it will be this time. Research will help to win the war, and its many wartime discoveries will help to build a better future.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

Chaplain

University of Texas from 1920 to 1925 and was a student at Virginia Theological seminary for three years from 1926 to 1929.

Captain Morris was made a deacon in 1929, being too young to be ordained. In April, 1930, he was ordained an Episcopal minister. He served as deacon in Trinity church, Weathersfield, Conn., for one year. Then, upon becoming ordained, he served as rector in that church until September 1931. He served as associate rector in St. Thomas' church, New Haven, Conn., from the fall of 1931 to the fall of 1934, and also did student work at Yale university.

He was vicar of the Church of the Ascension in Boston, Mass., from December, 1934, to November 1937, where he was also director of the Emmanuel Memorial House. In 1937 he became rector of Christ Episcopal Church, in Andover, Mass., continuing there until entering the army.

Chaplain Morris served in the Massachusetts National Guard for some months prior to entering Federal service. Not being able to get away when the regiment left because of parish duties, he came to Fort DuPont on August 1, 1941.

On August 4, 1934, Chaplain Morris married Miss Minna Booker Finney of Powhatan, Va., and Washington, whose father was a colonel in the last war. He has one son, John Albert Cousin Morris, who is 15 months old.

War Research

In war the advantage is on the side with the best weapons. The work of scientists in America's research laboratories, developing new materials and new equipment, means a lot to our fighting men.

1. It takes years to build up and equip a large, organized, and able staff for research. Fortunately, industry did this long ago.

2. Long before Pearl Harbor, laboratories like General Electric's were serving their country—solving technical problems of war.

3. History repeats! In the last war "wireless" was developed for military needs—to become, with peace, a giant broadcasting industry.

4. So it will be this time. Research will help to win the war, and its many wartime discoveries will help to build a better future.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

University of Texas from 1920 to 1925 and was a student at Virginia Theological seminary for three years from 1926 to 1929.

Captain Morris was made a deacon in 1929, being too young to be ordained. In April, 1930, he was ordained an Episcopal minister. He served as deacon in Trinity church, Weathersfield, Conn., for one year. Then, upon becoming ordained, he served as rector in that church until September 1931. He was vicar of the Church of the Ascension in Boston, Mass., from December, 1934, to November 1937, where he was also director of the Emanuel Memorial House. In 1937 he became rector of Christ Episcopal Church, in Andover, Mass., continuing there until entering the army.

Chaplain Morris served in the Massachusetts National Guard for some months prior to entering Federal service. Not being able to get away when the regiment left because of parish duties, he came to Fort DuPont on August 1, 1941.

On August 4, 1934, Chaplain Morris married Miss Minna Booker Finney of Powhatan, Va., and Washington, whose father was a colonel in the last war. He has one son, John Albert Cousin Morris, who is 15 months old.

L-50

L-50 is the number of a new War Production Order that means conservation of telephone materials. It means that copper, aluminum, rubber, steel and other materials necessary to telephone service, are being sent abroad. They won't be welcome because they'll arrive as warships, planes, shells, tanks and bombs.

WHAT DOES L-50 MEAN TO TELEPHONE USERS?

This order will probably affect you in several ways. . . . They may be inconvenient or irritating, but we won't ask you to do anything unnecessary or that won't help make life miserable for the unpleasant group pictured above.

HOW YOUR TELEPHONE SERVICE MAY BE AFFECTED

We ask everyone to make social conversations as brief as possible, to help conserve service and perhaps to prevent stricter limitations.

We may have to ask private line users to share party lines with neighbors for the duration.

We may not even be able to install a telephone for you, particularly if you're near camps or naval bases or war industries. But this may happen anywhere.

So, if any of these things happen to you, remember you're helping give L-50 to Hitler, Hirohito and Benito.

ago. He was born in Perry, Maine, and began his career as a Western Union messenger boy in Boston. Later, after several years in business in Boston and Worcester, he was manager of the Derryfield company, Manchester, N. H., for a period of thirty months.

Prior to joining the D. W. Pingree company, he was manager and treasurer of the Briggs-Allyn company, Lawrence, for several years.

Now two games behind the Eberhardtts and in fourth place in the Lawrence park department league, the Andover town team will endeavor to gain ground on the leaders in two league games this coming week. Whether Sunday's scheduled game with Tewksbury will take place is rather doubtful at this time, due to transportation difficulties.

A league game with the Lawrence merchants will be held tonight at O'Sullivan Park, Lawrence, Done and Bisset making up the probable battery. Bud Ferguson, whose hitting as well as pitching has been very satisfactory so far, will probably be in the box next Tuesday evening at the playstead against North Andover, George Follansbee being behind the plate.

The town team won a thriller last night at the playstead, downing the Tewksbury Infirmary team, 9-6, in the last inning of play. Jim Morrissey, regular outfielder, pitched the first game of his career, and went the whole distance. He had eight strikeouts, and yielded only three passes. Three base hits by Hilton and Ferguson also featured the contest.

A more rugged form of entertainment took place there last Friday night, however, when a large group of young sluggers squared off in a series of boxing matches. The contestants were Jackie Barry vs. Ernest Avery, Joe Spinella vs. Fred Beaudoin, Clives Macomber vs. Bruce Macomber, Billy McCarthy vs. Ray Nightingale, Earl Baker vs. Frank Foss, Bob Creamer vs. Paul Cheney, Scotty Gevisle vs. Billy Holt, Dicky King vs. Bob Bellisle, Herbert Nightingale vs. Sammy Desalvo and George Avery vs. Francis Sheehan.

All were non-title matches, and no decisions were given. Romeo C. King was referee, William Miller and Raymond LaRosa seconds, Jimmy Gillen, timekeeper, and Kenny Quinn, matchmaker.

Button Collection On Exhibit At Library

Since the collection of buttons has taken its place as a pastime and hobby among the well-known stamp books, glass shelves, coin albums and autograph books, there is much to interest anyone who looks over the collection now on exhibit in the Memorial Hall library.

Miss Ida Arundale of Elm street has loaned her mounted buttons for a short period of time. There are examples of the old and valuable story buttons, sporting buttons, glass, hands, flowers, animals, jewels, cut steel, birds, gingham, and pearls.

Those who plan to see the collection should visit the library before August.

WHEN HITLER DESTROYED THE COWS OF HOLLAND and DENMARK

He took away the health-protecting foods which had kept these countries strong.

Hitler's secret weapon is to destroy conquered peoples by depriving them of dairy products. He knows that lack of Milk's proteins, vitamins, calcium, lactose and other life-giving substances will make a people mentally and physically sick. They cannot withstand the everyday rigors of life—many die of diseases brought on by malnutrition. Others have “jumpy nerves”—are mentally depressed, quick-tempered and “blue.” Without the physical or mental stamina to withstand oppression they become easy prey to Hitler and his Gestapo.

ARE You PHYSICALLY FIT?

We in America have a great responsibility right now to keep ourselves and our families strong and well. It is important as never before to give careful attention to what foods are most nourishing and economical. Because Milk is inexpensive and because it contains all the elements needed for good health and because it is easily digested, it should be a regular part of our daily diet.

You should drink at least one quart a day—that means adults and children. Remember you owe it to your country to keep physically fit.

WISE PEOPLE INSIST ON HOOD'S

More people choose Hood's than any other Milk in New England. They know that through constant vigilance, both on the farms and in the dairy plants, Hood's Milk is carefully safeguarded—its quality superior—its flavor country-fresh. Since 1846, H. P. Hood & Sons have pioneered new and better methods for protecting Milk. Hood's is a New England institution owned and operated by New Englanders.

How About a Victory?

Sometimes as we look over the war news, we lapse into a mood similar to that of the college alumnus who wonders "when, for Pete's sake, our team is going to win a game." And the chances are that if the team doesn't start delivering a victory pretty soon, a lot of "alumni" will be clamoring for a new coach.

There'd be no demand for buying up a bunch of new players, because our material is the best there is. Great Britain has taken many verbal punches on the chin because of her unbroken string of defeats, but there again what she needs is a new coaching staff rather than new players. Our staff is mostly untried, because we really haven't been in anything but practice skirmishes to speak of, but sometimes the average American can't help but wonder why the staff doesn't give the team a try-out.

Somehow one can't help but feel a good deal of disappointment in the managership of the Navy. The blame for the first disastrous defeat has been placed on the shoulders of a couple of men, but since then the Navy department has been guilty of some mishandling. Remember that glorious victory in the Java sea? That information came out of Navy headquarters, and then a few weeks later, it was admitted that instead of a victory, it was a pretty serious defeat. Then we were told that Dutch Harbor was bombed, but "damage was light." Now they're gradually telling us that it was heavier than was first announced. The landing parties on the Aleutian Islands were supposed to be small and inconsequential; now we're told that there are about 25,000 Japs there, in barracks, ready to do a job. They made their landings in the same kind of weather that seems a handicap for us.

The United States wants to see some action, some favorable action, and it wants to see it soon. Otherwise the people of this country can't be blamed too seriously if they give the Navy more knocks and suggest that the Navy have less Knox.

To the Editor:

Will you kindly note, just to keep the record straight, that in all this discussion of a weekday Sunday School on public school time, there is no question anywhere concerning religious education in general or of the value of an acquaintance with the Bible. On all such matters the entire community is already substantially agreed. The only problem is whether the particular scheme petitioned of the School Committee by Andover pastors is or is not better than the one we now have. In other words, speaking broadly, everything thus far advanced by proponents of the innovation has been completely off the point.

For whatever may be true of other places, no one is arguing that our eight Andover churches are not handling their problems adequately. Any Andover parent who desires may, at his child's birth, enter him on the Cradle Roll of a Sunday School and start him in an Infant Class long before any day school will take him at all. He may continue through high school, and if he likes, into old age. There are church services, regular and special, with young people's societies on more than one age level. Nobody in Andover has the smallest lack of any religious opportunity.

We have also here in Andover a school system which we believe to be efficient and know to be expensive. In it our children are taught, in organized classes, by trained professionals, with ample equipment, on topics which expert opinion considers the best possible at each child's age.

It is now proposed that we forego one hour a week for two years of this schooling. In return, we are offered, what in practice can hardly be more than a half hour, of teaching in haphazard groups, on topics already covered amply in Sunday School and Church so far as they are appropriate to successive age levels.

The problem before the town, therefore, reduces to precisely this: Shall we or shall we not, abandoning a plan which has prevailed for more than a century, adopt instead, pretty much without discussion, a radically different scheme, which after thirty years of propaganda, has actually been tried by fewer than five percent of American communities, of which only one is in Massachusetts?

There, in lowest terms, is the question that confronts Andover.

E. T. BREWSTER

Ed. Note: To begin with, we should say here that the Townsman represents the general opinion in this controversy, rather than the local clergymen. They are the actual "proponents of the innovation," and they have made no public statement on the matter, except for the resolution adopted last week by the Baptist church; therefore, they cannot very well have gotten off any point.

Furthermore, to our way of thinking, the problem is not "whether the particular scheme... is or is not better than the one we now have," but rather whether that scheme has "the large measure of public support" demanded by Mr.

(Formerly Buchan's)

Rafton two weeks ago. It is Mr.
Brewster who is "off the point"
here.

We are willing enough to concede that the plan should receive
the approval of the townspeople
first, and then show that it has a right to that approval, though it
does seem a rather backward way
of doing things. Why not give the townspeople something definite to approve or disapprove of?

By no means do we desire that
the plan should be high-pressured
into operation without any popular
approval at all; that would be a case of "the end justifying the
means," which is always morally
wrong.

We do admit that Andover's religious education is perfectly adequate now—for Sundays and weekday evenings. And if God is perfectly content to be worshipped on Sunday and ignored on Monday and Tuesday, we can hardly object ourselves.

As for "organized classes by trained professionals," that is precisely the way religious education
will be taught in Andover, once the plan has had a fair trial. As originally presented by the clergymen,
the proposal read that the clergymen would be teachers "for the first year. It is hoped eventually, as the plan succeeds and expands, to secure a full-time teacher of week-
day religious education."

That the teaching by that professional teacher would be on professional standards is, of course, the
responsibility of the school committee. We see no reason to presume without reason that the teaching would be inferior, even by the clergymen.

Finally, we admit that the plan
is "radically different." We also admit that Hitlerism and Communism
are radically different, that gas rationing is radically different, that
social security, labor relations
boards, selective service and vocational guidance are radically different. We can only conclude that
we live in radically different times,
and that our children must be
trained to meet them in some radically different way.

Gray Farm

To the Editor:

I wish to add my congratulations
to you on the fine stand you are taking for religious education during the week.

In these days when the emphasis
is on a well-rounded education, it seems strange that we train our
children mentally and physically
with great care, but leave their
spiritual development to take care
of itself. We should at least give parents a chance to have their children taught the fundamental values of life. They may not make use of the privilege, but each child
should have as good an opportunity
to learn about God, as he has to learn about typewriting.

REBEKAH L. TAFT

To the Editor:

Is the recent discussion concerning religious teaching in the public schools, an admission of the church
of its failure to cope with the situation?

The leaders of the church in Andover are competent. Some day,
from that leadership, will be produced a program of juvenile religious education that will solve the
entire problem.

Isn't a unified nation stronger than one torn with dissension? "In unity there is strength." Why isn't

(Formerly Buchan's)
19 Barnard Street Tel. 1840

Rafton two weeks ago. It is Mr.
Brewster who is "off the point"
here.

We are willing enough to con-
cede that the plan should receive
the approval of the townspeople
first, and then show that it has a
right to that approval, though it
does seem a rather backward way
of doing things. Why not give the
townspeople something definite to
approve or disapprove of?

By no means do we desire that
the plan should be high-pressured
into operation without any popular
approval at all; that would be a
case of "the end justifying the
means," which is always morally
wrong.

We do admit that Andover's religious education is perfectly adequate now—for Sundays and week-
day evenings. And if God is perfectly content to be worshipped on Sunday and ignored on Monday and Tuesday, we can hardly object ourselves.

As for "organized classes by
trained professionals," that is precisely the way religious education
will be taught in Andover, once the
plan has had a fair trial. As originally presented by the clergymen,
the proposal read that the clergymen would be teachers "for the first year. It is hoped eventually, as the
plan succeeds and expands, to secure a full-time teacher of week-
day religious education."

That the teaching by that professional teacher would be on professional standards is, of course, the
responsibility of the school committee. We see no reason to presume without reason that the teaching would be inferior, even by the
clergymen.

Finally, we admit that the plan
is "radically different." We also admit that Hitlerism and Communism
are radically different, that gas rationing is radically different, that
social security, labor relations
boards, selective service and vocational guidance are radically different. We can only conclude that
we live in radically different times,
and that our children must be
trained to meet them in some radically different way.

Gray Farm

To the Editor:

I wish to add my congratulations
to you on the fine stand you are
taking for religious education during the week.

In these days when the emphasis
is on a well-rounded education, it
seems strange that we train our
children mentally and physically
with great care, but leave their
spiritual development to take care
of itself. We should at least give
parents a chance to have their
children taught the fundamental
values of life. They may not make
use of the privilege, but each child
should have as good an opportunity
to learn about God, as he has to
learn about typewriting.

To the Editor:

Is the recent discussion concerning religious teaching in the public
schools, an admission of the church
of its failure to cope with the situation?

The leaders of the church in An-
dover are competent. Some day,
from that leadership, will be produced a program of juvenile religious education that will solve the
entire problem.

Isn't a unified nation stronger than one torn with dissention? "In unity there is strength." Why isn't

Ready For Japs In New Caledonia

Heaven help the Japanese who get in the way of the 182nd infantry, is the sentiment expressed by Sgt. Fred MacCord, U.S.A., in a recent letter to Guy B. Howe, his former employer. Along with several other local boys formerly associated with the National Guard in Lawrence, Sgt. MacCord is now stationed in New Caledonia, eagerly awaiting a chance to get at the little yellow men who threaten their base.

Though "we might have been sent to a worse place than this," he agrees, "we wouldn't have been here at all if it weren't for the Japs. The boys here are ripping mad. . . They vow that the Japs will pay with something better than money if they ever catch up with them. They don't like to be so far away from home, so the little yellow men had better keep clear out of the way."

Life in New Caledonia isn't as comfortable as it might be, according to the letter. "The mosquitoes here don't actually carry us away, but they might just as well. One of their bites is like a doctor's inoculation. . . It's cool and a little damp down here, especially at night, but we were lucky enough to miss the summer weather—as you know, it's winter here."

The letter was written on the night before the Fourth, "one of the queerest Fourth's I've ever spent," and was delivered in Andover early this week. Postal service to New Caledonia is regular and prompt. And does the 182nd like to get mail? Well, "a letter is like a star from Heaven here, as we look so often and are disappointed."

Rebekah Rummage Sale Planned For August 1

Final plans for a rummage sale to be held August 1 were made at a meeting of Indian Ridge Rebekah lodge Monday evening. The sale will take place downstairs in Fraternal hall, Park street, all day, and the store there will be open for donations of clothing on the preceding Friday evening.

Mrs. Edmond Dunwoody of Stevens street is in charge of arrangements, and she is assisted by the members of the Rebekah entertainment committee.

The next regular meeting of the organization will be held on the third Monday in August.

Lane Acts

For the first six months in 1942, however, approximately $14,000 has been collected. The total revenue for the year, based on the first six months' volume, may conservatively be estimated at $25,000. Despite this large increase, the county would still be limited to a maximum return of $3000.

Essex County's naturalization business is the greatest of any county in Massachusetts. It is only natural that, with this increased volume, there has been a sharp increase in the expenses of the county in handling this work. It was recently necessary to add two extra clerks because of the increase in the work. The Congressman stated that the increased payments permitted under his bill would tend to correct the injustice under the old law, where the volume of revenue collected exceeds $6000 per year.

This Sober Town

Human nature is funny stuff dept.: we always like to watch people mailing packages at the postoffice, to see their undisguised shivers when the clerk asks them, very sternly, whether any writing is contained within. It's purely a routine question, of course, designed to give the clerk an idea whether the rate should be that of one class or another.

Yet the majority are vociferous in their innocence—"No, certainly not!" or "No, really there isn't." Indeed, one lady of our acquaintance offered to open up the package as evidence of her sincerity.

The next natural question is how much insurance, if any, ought to go on the package. So the clerk asks how much the contents are worth, and the customer looks at him as if suspecting that he would make off with it if it were worth enough.

Yes, as Gilbert and Sullivan might have said, though they didn't, a postman's lot is not a happy one. Since we started writing letters to sailors, we have come to think that the least enviable jobs in the world are those of the postmasters of New York, San Francisco and New Orleans. They get as much mail in wartime as Montgomery Ward does in peacetime.

* * *

Despite the fact that Lawrence's famed bookie shops are closed, horses are apparently at a peak of popularity not enjoyed by them since the Gay Nineties. Which is a pity, because, according to a survey made by the American Institute of Laundering, there aren't even enough horses for that one business.

Not only is there a shortage of horses, but also of harness, of steel for wagon wheel rims, of experienced horseshoers and their smithies. Furthermore, some towns have prohibitive ordinances against stabling of horses. And horse-drawn vehicles, if rubber-tired, are subject to full restrictions of the Office of Defense Transportation.

That settles that, we guess. Anybody know where a fellow can pick up a wheelbarrow, or a good used bicycle?

Looking over the "wanted" posters in the police station yesterday, we happened upon the distinguished three-quarters and full face, and the completely undistinguished fingerprints, of one Colonel Hale Heatherington Halquire. He's wanted for grand larceny, and it strikes us that it must be very grand larceny indeed to go with such a grand name.

Col. Hale Heatherington Halquire may be a genius at grand larceny, but he is even better at picking out names for himself, going the late great Thomas Hardy one better in that regard. He has also extinguished his identity at sundry times, as Alfred E. Lindsay, alias Lindsey, alias Lindsley.

So today we hail Col. H. H. H., wherever he may be. His name has spread his glory around him; we revere him as a brother artist. We hope we meet up with him some day, possibly under the nom de guerre of Chauncey Pietro Vandercook, or plain Joe Jones.

Until then, we will be on pins and needles,—wondering what his real name is.

a unified church program stronger than one torn with failure of purpose, inadequate preparation of subject matter and uninteresting material?

There is an old adage which is appropriate, "A place for everything, and everything in its place." Keep the public schools free and untrammelled from that all important duty of the church, to teach the principles of religion to its youth.

It really wasn't Gambling

when we scooped in a sizeable stock of classic year-round topcoats from two of the country's best known manufacturers . . . way back in last March. We made sure they were 100 per-cent virgin wool coats . . . Harris tweeds that were getting more scarce every day because of world conditions . . . finer domestic tweeds, cavalry twill and camel hair coats. They were coats with zipper linings and matching wool linings. "Ship them to Lawrence," we said, "and we'll take all you can send."

We were pretty Sure

they'd prove a genuine opportunity for those who want hard-to-get coats . . . and here they are . . . classic beauties at 1941 prices: $19.95 to $49.95. Such coats as these cannot be manufactured at any price. We need not remind you of the near impossibility of acquiring imported fabrics. Misses sizes. Women's sizes.

Small deposit holds your coat in our cold storage vaults until you are ready to wear it. Under our Lay Away plan it will not be billed until you take it out.
